BIOGRAPHY

ROBERT C. WEILL specializes in appellate, extra-contractual and coverage matters and also provides litigation support to all practice areas of the firm. Mr. Weill received his B.A. degree from Cornell University in 1990 and his J.D. degree from Nova Southeastern University's Shepard Broad Law Center in 1994. He was admitted to the Florida Bar in 1994 and is also admitted to practice in the United States Supreme court, the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit and the United States District Court for the Northern, Middle and Southern Districts of Florida. At Nova Southeastern, Mr. Weill served as a senior staff member for the Nova Law Review. He received the Best Brief Award in the Moot Court Competition, taught appellate brief writing to second-and third-year law students, and served as Academic Editor of the Moot Court Society. Mr. Weill received awards for highest grade in Legal Research & Writing I & II, Appellate Practice, and Civil Procedure. Upon graduation from law school, Mr. Weill worked as a Staff Attorney for the Honorable Harry Lee Anstead in the Supreme Court of Florida.

Mr. Weill is a member of the Defense Research Institute, the Florida Supreme Court Historical Society, the Florida Defense Lawyers Association, and the Broward County Bar Association. He serves as an editorial board member of the Trial Advocate Quarterly. Mr. Weill has authored numerous articles on extra-contractual issues and recently published an article in the Trial Advocate Quarterly on Amendment VII to the Florida Constitution. He has also lectured on a variety of topics, including bad faith in Florida and legal research and writing techniques.
